Introduction

Statement of purpose

It is the commitment of Wycliffe Associates to support only Bible translations that use accurate and literal common language terms for “Father” and “Son” when referring to God and Jesus.

The purpose of this guide is to help the church review their Bible translation to check that all instances of the word “Son” that refer to Jesus Christ are translated correctly.

About this review guide

This document provides a table showing every instance of “Son” in the New Testament that refers to the Son of God. Reviewers will check each instance in their translation and record what word was used to translate “Son.”

Different meanings for the word “son”

The word “son” has several meanings in the New Testament. Here is a list of the most common definitions and examples of each.

1. Biological, male offspring

- The male offspring of a man and a woman is called their "son."
- Examples:
 - Matthew 26:37, “sons of Zebedee”
 - John 4:5, “Jacob had given to his son Joseph”

2. Descendant

- "Son" was often used figuratively in the Bible to refer to any male descendant, such as a grandson or great-grandson. It may also refer to an entire nation that descended from someone. When used of a whole group of people it also refers to the women of that group. (See example 2 below).
- Examples:
 - Luke 19:9, “son of Abraham”
 - Romans 9:28, “sons of Israel”

3. Someone younger

- “Son” is sometimes used as a kind way of referring to a boy or man who is younger than the speaker.
- Examples:
 - Matthew 9:2, “Take heart, son...”
 - Mark 2:5, “Son, your sins are forgiven.”

4. Spiritual son

- When someone helps or teaches a man to believe in Christ, the new Christian may be called a “son” of the one who helped him.
- Example:
 - In 1 Timothy 1:2, (Paul calls Timothy his son) “Timothy, a true son in the faith.”

5. One who displays a characteristic

- Sometimes the words “sons of” are used in a figure of speech to talk about someone having a particular characteristic. So “sons of light” refers to people who are like light, and “sons of thunder” refers to people who are like thunder. This can be used for a mixed group--both males and females. (See example 1 below.)
- Examples:
 - John 12:36, “sons of light”
 - Mark 3:17, “sons of thunder”

6. Son of Man

- Jesus used the title “Son of Man” to refer to himself. He often used this term instead of saying “I” or “me.” This may have been a way for him to refer to his own humanity. It may also have been a way for him to show that he was the person referred to in Ezekiel 1:26 and Daniel 7:13.
- Examples:
 - Matthew 9:6, “The Son of Man has authority on earth...”
 - Luke 6:5, “The Son of Man is Lord of the Sabbath.”

7. Christians as the sons of God

- In the New Testament, the term “sons of God” is sometimes used to refer to all believers in Jesus and is often translated as “children of God” since it includes both males and females.
- This use of the term speaks of a relationship with God that is like the relationship between a human son and his father, with all the privileges associated with being sons.
- Examples:
 - Romans 8:14, “sons of God”
 - Galatians 3:26, “You are all sons of God, through faith...”

8. Jesus as the Son of God

- The term "Son of God" refers to Jesus, who came into the world as a human being. He is also often referred to as "the Son."
- God is three persons: God the Father, God the Son, and God the Holy Spirit. Each of these persons is fully and equally God, and yet they are one God. This is a mystery that humans cannot fully understand.
- The Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit have the same character.
- "Son of God" refers to God the Son, who came into the world as a human being to be the Savior and Christ. His name is Jesus.
- Unlike human sons, the Son has always existed.
- In the beginning, the Son was active in creating the world along with the Father and the Holy Spirit.
- The Father sent the Son (Jesus) into the world, and the Father and the Son send the Holy Spirit to his people.
- Because Jesus is God's Son, he loves and obeys his Father, and his Father loves him.
- Though the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit are equally God, in most instances in the New Testament, the word "God" refers to "God the Father."

Translating the word "Son"

When referring to Jesus as the "Son of God," it is important that translators use the same word for "son" as they do when referring to a biological, male offspring. As stated above, the word "son" means something different in each case; that is, Jesus is not a son born from God the Father in the same way that a human son is born from a human father. However, when God revealed Jesus to the world, he did so by calling Jesus his Son. It is the responsibility of Christian preachers and teachers to explain to their churches the meaning of "Son of God."

“Son of God” Terms Table

How to use the Terms Table

This section has every instance in the New Testament in which “Son” or “Son of God” is used to refer to Jesus Christ, the Son of God, who is God the Son. As reviewers read through their Bible, they may notice that there are verses with the word “son” that are not in this list. In those verses the word “son” has a different meaning than what is being reviewed here. The purpose of this review is to check the word “son” only when it refers to the Son of God.

The first column in the table includes the verse reference. In a few cases there is a note explaining a difficulty in the translation.

The second column includes the Greek text; the word for “Son” or “the Son of God” is in bold letters. The purpose of including the Greek is to give a reference for those who can read Greek and also to demonstrate that the decision of Wycliffe Associate to use the word “Son” is supported by the original language.

The third column includes the text from the ULB with the word “Son” or “the Son of God” in bold letters. Usually the complete text of the verse is not included. The phrase that includes “Son” or “the Son of God” is included. Sometimes there are ellipses (...) in the table when “Son” or “the Son of God” occurs more than once in a verse. If it is hard to understand the text included in the chart, refer to the source text used for the translation.

The fourth column is for recording how “Son” or “Son of God” was translated in each verse of the Bible you are reviewing.

The fifth column is for comments and questions. For each verse, ask the following questions. If the answer is “no” to any of them, write about it in the fifth column. Also if there are questions or issues to discuss with the reviewers, write them in this column.

- In this verse, does the word used in your translation for “Son” normally refer to a literal, biological, male born to literal biological parents?
- In this verse, is this the same word for “Son” that was used in previous passages?
- If it is not the same word, does it also normally refer to a literal, biological, male born to literal biological parents?
- If your language has a way of showing that your word for “Son” refers to the Son of God (for example, in English the word “son” is capitalized when it refers to God), has this been done in this verse?
- If you fill this document out on a computer, and you want to write about a verse in the comment section, put your cursor in the comment section. Then hit the ENTER key on your keyboard until the cursor is next to the verse you want to write about. Also, write the verse reference with your comment.
