Introduction to Narrative Passages Review

A narrative is an account, whether historical or fictional, of related events. In general, a narrative may include an account about a person or people and what they did or what happened to them in a certain time or place that may be known or unknown to the reader. In biblical narratives these accounts are written to teach truths about God and how believers should live.

Some narratives are short and encompass one single event. Sometimes many short narratives are connected together to tell a longer story--for example to tell about the life of an important person or the account of important events.

In order to understand a narrative, the reader must determine:

- If the account is historical or fictional
- Who the characters are or who they represent
- The time and setting in which the narrative takes place
- The order of events and how they are connected

The Bible contains different types of literature that are expressed in narrative form. For example:

- History- true account of an event (or a series of events), that happened to real historical people, in real places, and that occur in time.
- Parable - a simple story told to illustrate a moral or spiritual lesson. A parable often has one main point.
- Prophecy - accounts of events that will happen in the future.

Purpose of the Narrative Passage Review

Since the Bible is God's Word, every narrative passage is significant.

The purpose of testing the narrative/historical passages with the Review Guide is to affirm that the message of the events, the meaning of the stories, and their significance is clearly communicated in the translated passages.

1. Message of the events: Can the listener/reader recount the events of the story? Does he have an awareness of the historical/geographical setting?
2. Meaning of the events: Does the listener/reader understand these events? Can he identify with the characters and follow the progress of the account?
3. Significance of events: Does the listener/reader understand the doctrines supported by the stories?

Historical Narratives: The Birth of Jesus Christ

The Bible clearly tells of Jesus' birth as a human being into this world. Although Joseph was considered Jesus' earthly father, Jesus was conceived by the power of the Holy Spirit and born to the virgin Mary.

Matthew 1:18-25

Background: This passage is written by the apostle Matthew about the events before Jesus was born.

Specific Questions
Who is in this story?	Joseph, Mary, the angel of the Lord, and Jesus.

Significance of events
What do verses 22-23 say about why all this happened?	These verses quote a prophecy about Jesus being born to a virgin mother. These verses tell us that everything happened the way it did to fulfill a prophecy made long ago.

Why do you think Herod asked the wise men to come back and tell him where Jesus was?	He needed to know where the baby was to be found, so he could kill him.
There was a star over the place where Jesus was; there was a prophecy about his birth; and wise men came and worshiped him. What do you think these events indicate about Jesus?	These events indicate that Jesus is the Christ, the King of the Jews, and his birth was predicted in the Old Testament.

Summary Section
Summarize what happened in this story?	<input type="checkbox"/> Jesus was traveling along the road going to Jerusalem (between Samaria and Galilee) <input type="checkbox"/> As he came to a town, ten lepers were outside the town, and they were calling out to him from a distance. <input type="checkbox"/> They begged him for mercy. <input type="checkbox"/> He told them to go and show themselves to the priest. <input type="checkbox"/> They obeyed him, and as they went they were healed of their leprosy. <input type="checkbox"/> One leper, when he saw that he was healed, turned and came back to Jesus. <input type="checkbox"/> He glorified God and bowed at Jesus' feet thanking him. <input type="checkbox"/> The leper was a Samaritan. <input type="checkbox"/> Jesus said, "Weren't all ten healed? Where are the other nine? Is it only this foreigner who returns to give thanks?" <input type="checkbox"/> Then he told the leper, "Go, your faith has made you whole" (or well).
Specific Questions
Who is in this story?	Jesus, his disciples, and ten lepers
Why were the lepers calling out to Jesus to have mercy on them?	They wanted Jesus to heal them. (They had probably heard that Jesus was a healer.)

Why do you think Jesus healed the ten lepers?	He responded to their plea for mercy. He had compassion. He wanted to.
Why do you think the leper's response of worship and thanksgiving appropriate?	Jesus had done something miraculous for him that he could not do for himself. He saw the power as coming from God and he praised God for giving him something good. His gratefulness may also have indicated his awareness of being unworthy (especially since it is noted in the passage that he was a foreigner).

John 2:1-12

Background information: This passage is from the gospel that the apostle John wrote. This story is the account of Jesus' first public miracle.

Specific Questions
Where did this story take place?	At a wedding feast in Cana of Galilee
Who is in this story?	Jesus, his disciples, his mom, his brothers, wedding guests, servants, head waiter

What did Jesus' mother say to the servants?	She told them to do whatever Jesus tells them to do.

Teaching Narrative: The Parables of Jesus Christ

Positive Statement:

Jesus Christ often taught in parables--or short stories designed to make a specific point. These stories were probably not true events, although they include real-life settings and people. Jesus' parables are a significant part of His teachings while on earth.

Matt. 18:21-34

Background: Jesus told this parable in response to a question from Peter about forgiveness.

Question	Correct Answer	Comments
Summary Section
Summarize what happened in this story?	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <input type="checkbox"/> Peter asked Jesus how often he should forgive his brother when he sinned against him. <input type="checkbox"/> Peter suggested maybe 7 times. <input type="checkbox"/> Jesus responded by saying 70 times 7. Then he told a story. <input type="checkbox"/> A king was settling his accounts when a servant who owed a huge sum of money was brought before him. <input type="checkbox"/> The servant could not pay, so the king said to sell his family and use that money to pay the debt. <input type="checkbox"/> The servant begged for mercy promising to pay back the debt. <input type="checkbox"/> The king showed him mercy by forgiving the debt entirely. <input type="checkbox"/> Then the servant left and as he went he saw a man who owed him a small sum of money. <input type="checkbox"/> He grabbed the man and demanded that he pay what he owed right away. <input type="checkbox"/> The man begged for mercy promising to pay the debt. <input type="checkbox"/> But the servant refused to listen and instead had him thrown in prison until he could pay it back. <input type="checkbox"/> When some of the king's servants saw what this servant did, they went and told the king. <input type="checkbox"/> He called the servant back and said to him, "You wicked servant! I forgave your huge debt and you should have been willing to forgive this small debt." <input type="checkbox"/> Then the king had the servant turned over to be tormented until he could pay back the entire debt that he owed.

Question	Correct Answer	Comments
Specific Questions
Why do you think Peter suggested seven times to forgive his brother?	He might have thought this was a generous number of times to forgive someone.
Why do you think Jesus answered with, "Not seven but seventy times seven."	He used this to give Peter the idea that he should not count how many times he forgives. In other words he should not put a limit on it.
Significance of parable
Who was forgiving in the story?	The Master/king
Why do you think the servant was unforgiving?	Maybe he had not really believed the king's forgiveness of the huge debt. Maybe he was greedy. Maybe he cared more about money than anything else.
Why was the king outraged at the servant?	The king told the servant that he had forgiven so much that the servant should have been willing, happy even, to forgive a small debt.
How do you think this parable addresses Peter's question about forgiveness?	God is so forgiving and has forgiven people for so much. Therefore people should not put a limit on how much they forgive other people

Matthew 20:1-16

Background: Jesus is teaching his disciples about the kingdom of heaven. This is one of his parables on that subject.

Question	Correct Answer	Comments
Summary Section
Summarize what happened in this story.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <input type="checkbox"/> Jesus told his disciples a story to explain what the kingdom of heaven is like. <input type="checkbox"/> A landowner went to hire some men to work in his field. <input type="checkbox"/> He found some men in the marketplace and they agreed to work all day in his field for a denarius (a day's wage.) <input type="checkbox"/> A few hours later he went to the market looking for more workers. <input type="checkbox"/> When he found some men willing to work he sent them to his field promising to pay them what was right for their work. <input type="checkbox"/> He did this two more times, sending men to work in his field with a promise to pay what was right. <input type="checkbox"/> Near the end of the day he went back to the marketplace and found some men standing around. <input type="checkbox"/> He asked them why they weren't working and they said no one had hired them. <input type="checkbox"/> So he sent them also to his field to work and promised to pay them what was right. <input type="checkbox"/> When the day was over, he told his manager to call the workers and pay them each a denarius, starting with the ones who had only worked for a little while at the end of the day.

Question	Correct Answer	Comments
Summary (Continued)	❑ While this was happening, those who had been hired at the beginning of the day, thought they would get more than the original denarius they were promised. ❑ But when their turn came, the manager paid them a single denarius as well. ❑ So they complained to the landowner about getting the same pay as those who had only worked an hour. They felt it made light of the hard work they had done. ❑ The land owner said, "Didn't we agree to this? I haven't cheated you. Take what is yours and go. If I want to be generous with the other workers, isn't it my money? I can do what I want with it. Or are you envious because of my generosity?"
Specific Questions
What did the landowner do to get workers for his vineyard?	He went to the marketplace and hired men to go and work for him.
What did he tell the first group he hired?	That he would pay them a denarius--or a day's wage.
What did he tell the rest of the men he hired?	That he would pay them what was right.
Explain why the first men hired were upset with their pay.	They felt cheated because they got the same payment as the ones who came so late that they only worked an hour.
Significance of parable
Were they right to feel that way?	It seems like the story is saying they did not have the right to feel that way. The landowner had given them what was agreed upon. They had not been cheated.

Question	Correct Answer	Comments
What do you think Jesus intended to teach with this parable?	The way God gives rewards is not how people may expect. People do not necessarily earn more rewards from God just because they have worked harder or longer. All God's rewards are based on his grace and he gives them in a way that pleases himself.

Luke 10:25-37

Background: Many of the religious leaders of the Jews did not like what Jesus taught. They were jealous of the popularity he had among the people. The gospels record stories of different leaders trying to get Jesus to say something wrong or against scripture, so they could accuse him of blasphemy. They also wanted to impress the crowds so people would respect them more than, or instead of Jesus. This is one such event.

Question	Correct Answer	Comments

Give a summary of the conversation between Jesus and the teacher of the law in 10:25-29. (Before Jesus tells the parable.)	<input type="checkbox"/> A teacher of the Jewish law asked Jesus a question to test him: "What must I do to have eternal life?" <input type="checkbox"/> Jesus replied, "What does it say in the law?" <input type="checkbox"/> The teacher answered, "Love the Lord and love your neighbor." <input type="checkbox"/> Jesus told him that he had answered well, and to obey that and he would live. <input type="checkbox"/> The teacher wanted to justify himself, so he asked Jesus, "Who is my neighbor?" <input type="checkbox"/> Jesus answered with a story.
Give a summary of the story Jesus told 10:30-35.	<input type="checkbox"/> A man was traveling from Jerusalem to Jericho. <input type="checkbox"/> On the way, he was robbed and beaten and left for dead on the side of the road. <input type="checkbox"/> A priest came traveling that way. <input type="checkbox"/> When he saw the beaten man, he passed on the opposite side of the road. <input type="checkbox"/> A Levite also happened to pass. And when he saw the beaten man, he too passed on the opposite side of the road. <input type="checkbox"/> Then a Samaritan passed that way. He saw the beaten man and felt compassion for him. <input type="checkbox"/> He went to him, and treated his wounds. Then he took him on his own animal to the inn in town.

Question	Correct Answer	Comments
Summary of 10:30-35 (Continued)	<input type="checkbox"/> The next day when he was ready to leave, he gave the innkeeper some money and asked him to care for the man. <input type="checkbox"/> He promised upon his return to pay any expense that caring for the injured man might cause.
Give a brief summary of the conversation Jesus had with the teacher in 10:36-37 after telling this story.	<input type="checkbox"/> Jesus asked him, "Which man was a neighbor to the man who was robbed?" <input type="checkbox"/> The teacher said, "The man who showed mercy to him." <input type="checkbox"/> Jesus challenged him to go and do the same thing.
Specific Questions
Why did the teacher of the law ask Jesus how to inherit eternal life?	He was trying to test Jesus.
How do you think this question was testing Jesus?	Maybe the teacher of the law wanted to see what Jesus knew or maybe he was hoping Jesus would say something contrary to Scripture so he could accuse him of blasphemy.
How did Jesus respond to the teacher?	He asked the teacher what the law had to say about it.
What was the teacher's answer?	He said that the law said to love God with all your heart and love your neighbor as yourself.
What did Jesus say about this answer?	He told the teacher that he had answered well and to do that and he would live.
How did the teacher respond to Jesus?	He asked him, "And who is my neighbor?"
Why did the teacher ask Jesus to clarify who his neighbor was?	He wanted to justify himself, that is, wanting to gain some respect from Jesus and the crowd..

Question	Correct Answer	Comments
Why do you think the teacher wanted to justify himself or gain respect for himself?	He may have felt foolish after Jesus made the teacher answer his own question and then Jesus told him to obey the law he already knew. Or he may have wanted to make himself seem smarter to the crowd by making Jesus explain the answer further. Or he may have wanted to make himself feel better about whom he loved by making Jesus explain what he meant by "neighbor."
Why do you think Jesus answered the question of who his neighbor was with a story?	Maybe one of the following: Stories can sometimes communicate an answer powerfully--speaking to emotions and not just logic. The story proved the point more effectively. Jesus knew he would hold the attention of the crowd better with a story.
Significance of events
What nationality was the man who was robbed and beaten?	The story doesn't say.
What nationality was the man who helped him?	A Samaritan
Why do you think Jesus put this detail into the story?	Maybe because the Jews hated the Samaritans and would not likely think of them as being merciful. Or, maybe the Jews thought they were more godly than the Samaritans and would have been shocked to think of a Samaritan being more merciful than a Jewish priest or Levite.

Question	Correct Answer	Comments
Why do you think Jesus said that both a priest and a Levite saw the man and passed by without helping?	These were respected leaders of the Jewish people. They are the ones who would teach, "Love your neighbor as yourself." But in this story, they did not do what they teach. Jesus was possibly pointing out that what you do matters more than what you teach. He may also have been pointing out that it doesn't matter what your status is; no one is exempt from showing mercy.
From this passage, who do you think we are to love?	We are to love our fellow-human beings, even those we don't know personally, who are different from us, who come from different places, and might be in desperate need of mercy.

Specific Questions--Ask only the questions that were not answered in the summary
Who is in this story?	Saul, (people traveling with him) Jesus, and Ananias
Where did this story take place?	Part of it was on the way to Damascus. The rest happened in the city of Damascus.

What did Saul see on his way to Damascus?	A bright light shone down from heaven.

Question	Correct Answer	Comments
What did the voice answer?	He said, "I am Jesus the one you are persecuting." Then he told Saul to get up and go into Damascus where he would be told what to do next.
What happened when Saul got up and opened his eyes?	He couldn't see.
How did he get his sight back?	Ananias, a disciple of God, was told in a vision from God to go and lay hands on Saul so that he would receive his sight. So he went, and laid his hands on Saul and scales fell off Saul's eyes and he could see again.
What did Saul do as soon as he could see?	He got up and was baptized. Then he ate and got back his strength.
Significance of events
Why do you think Saul called the voice, "Lord"?	He recognized it was supernatural. Maybe he also used this term as a way of showing respect for a voice that seemed more powerful than a human.
What do you think Jesus meant when he said that Saul was persecuting him?	He was referring to how Saul was treating followers of Jesus. The persecution of Jesus' followers is the same as persecuting him.
Why was Ananias afraid to go to Saul when God told him to?	He had heard rumors of how Saul opposed followers of Jesus.
Why do you think Ananias went to Saul even though he was afraid?	Because the Lord revealed to him that He had chosen Saul to be a servant in spreading the gospel. Maybe because he feared disobeying God more than he did Saul. Maybe because he trusted God to take care of him even if Saul didn't turn to the Lord.

Question	Correct Answer	Comments
Why do you think Saul was baptized right away?	This was a public expression to the other believers that he also was now a believer. It was the next step after believing in Jesus Christ as his Savior. It was a way for him to identify publicly with Jesus and with his other followers.

Acts 14:8-18

Background: Paul (formerly known as Saul) and Barnabas have been traveling to unreached cities, sharing the gospel of Jesus Christ. Often they experienced diverse reactions to their testimony with many receiving the word and becoming saved, and many others stirring up trouble and persecuting them. They came to Lystra, having run from Iconium where they discovered plots by both Jews and Gentiles to get the leaders to stone them.
